TAKE SIMMONS LIVER REGULATOR

NOTHING LIKE IT

Its peculiar efficacy is due as much to the process and skill in compounding as to the ingredients themselves. Take it in time. It checks diseases in the outset, or if they be advanced will prove a potent cure.

FOR WHOSE BENEFIT

No Home should be Without It.

It takes the place of a doctor and costly prescriptions. All who lead sedentary lives will find it the best preventive of and cure for Indigestion, Constipation, Headache, Biliousness, Piles and Mental Depression. No loss of time, no interference with business while taking. For children it is most innocent and harmless. No danger from exposure after taking. Cures Colic, Diarrhœa, Bowel Complaints, Feverishness and Feverish Colds. Invalids and delicate persons will find it the mildest Aperient and Tonic they can use. A little taken at night insures refreshing sleep and a natural evacuation of the bowels. A little taken in the morning sharpens the appetite, cleanses the stomach and sweetens the breath.

A PHYSICIAN'S OPINION.

"I have been practicing medicine for twenty years and have never been able to put up a vegetable compound that would, like Simmons Liver Regulator, promptly and effectively move the Liver to action, and at the same time aid (instead of weakening) the digestive and assimilative powers of the system."
L. M. HINTON, M. D., Washington, Ark.

ROSALIND UP TO DATE.

Without, Independent and Businesslike; Within, Very Womanly.

I met him on the Elevated the other day and he seemed depressed and out of spirits.

"What's the matter?" asked I.

He flushed in a conscious way, and said, "Oh, nothing." Then in the next breath he added: "Yes there is, too, and I'm going to confide in you. You impress me as the sort of woman a man could confide in."

I have always flattered myself that there is something in my face that inspires confidence. I was pleased to see that this expression was generally recognized.

"I'm in love," he continued, "desperately in love, and I feel sure it is a hopeless case. I don't mind mentioning her name to you. Indeed, any man might feel proud of himself to think he was in love with her. It's Miss Z. That's why it's so hopeless. You know what Miss Z.'s position is. So do I. I know she is a clever, capable, competent business woman. She fights her own battles with the world, and asks no odds of anybody. She is highly respected by her employers, who recognize her true worth and her value to them. She needs no help, no protection from any one. I don't dare to propose to her on this account. Why, she'd just laugh at me for my pains. She would want to know of what earthly use I could be to her.

"I came pretty near doing it once. I saw her at the opera one night, and she looked so girlish and dependent in her white frock, with her hair curled in childish rings about her face, that I made up my mind she did need a protector and that I would propose next day.

"Well, the next day came, and I happened to meet her in the morning on her way down town. It was raining. She had on a very mannish, double breasted, long caped mackintosh, a pair of stout boots, a storm hat and a very aggressive umbrella tucked under her arm. There were no babyish curls that day. Her hair was braided tightly all about her head, and looked as businesslike as possible. My courage failed me. I said to myself that it was all nonsense. That trim, alert, capable young person didn't need me or any other man to look after her. And so I didn't propose. That's all," he wound up gloomily.

It happened that the very next afternoon Miss Z. dropped in for a little chat and a cup of tea. I told her the story because it was too good to keep. She laughed a bit, and then she sighed.

"Yes," she said, "I dare say I give people that impression. I intend to, at least. I resolved when I first went out in the world to scramble for myself that I would never ask any indulgence from any one on account of my sex. I would put on a brave front anyway. Like Rosalind, I'd have a martial outside, though in my heart the woman's fear did lie hidden. Well, your story shows that I have succeeded. And yet I am a woman still at heart.

"I don't like to do things for myself. I'd rather be waited upon, cared for, watched over by some great, big, delightful man. I often look at other women with their husbands and sweethearts, and sigh to remember I have none. You would not have believed it? No, I dare say not. And probably poor young X. would not believe it now. But it is true; true of me and of every woman. NO matter how [illegible] we may seem, we are all cowards at heart. We like a man to fight the world for us."

And when I looked at her there were two tears slowly rolling down her face.—New York Recorder.

Wonders of the Trance State.

Professor William James, a well known Harvard instructor, in speaking of the trance condition and trances in general, says: "I know a woman who in her trances knows facts which altogether transcend her possible normal consciousness—facts about the lives of people whom she never saw or heard of before. I make this statement deliberately, knowing the liabilities to which it exposes me. My own impressions are that the trance condition is an immensely complex and fluctuating thing, into the understanding of which we have hardly begun to penetrate, and concerning which any very sweeping generalizations are sure to be premature."—St. Louis Republic.

Scenes at Funerals.

In 1878 I was called upon to officiate (for a neighbor) at a funeral in a Lancashire town. The relatives, working people, but not poor, desired me to attend at the house before the procession left it. I found the company drinking lemon, juice, mixed with warm water, sweetened and spiced. The vessel was a large two handled pot mug, and the rind of the lemon was wreathed from handle to handle. I found it would have been a great offense to refuse to drink of it.—Notes and Queries.

Effect of Quinine on Laborers.

Workmen occupied in the manufacture of quinine are said to suffer from a peculiar cutaneous eruption, which some claim is caused by the vapor from boiling solutions, and the statement is made that about 90 per cent. of those engaged are more or less affected.—Pharmaceutical Era.

LITTLE GIFFEN, OF TENNESSEE.

Out of the focal and foremost fire,
Out of the hospital ward as dire,
Smitten of grapeshot and gangrene
(Eighteenth battle and he sixteen!)
Specter such as we seldom see,
Little Giffen, of Tennessee.

"Take him—and welcome," the surgeon said;
"Much your doctor can help the dead!"
And so we took him and brought him where
The balm was sweet on the summer air;
And we laid him down on a wholesome bed—
Utter Lazarus, heel to head!

Weary war with the bated breath,
Skeleton boy against skeleton death.
Months of torture, how many such?
Weary weeks of the stick and crutch!
Still a glint in the steel blue eye
Spoke of the spirit that would not die.

And didn't I say, more! in death's despite
The crippled skeleton learned to write!
"Dear mother," at first, of course; and then
"Dear captain"—inquiring about "the men."
Captain's answer—"Of eighty and five
Giffen and I are left alive!"

"Johnston's pressed at the front, they say!"
Little Giffen was up and away.
A tear—his first—as he bade goodby,
Dimmed the glint of his steel blue eye;
"I'll write, if spared." There was news of a fight,
But none of Giffen—he did not write!

I sometimes fancy that were I king
Of the princely knights of the Golden Rule,
With the song of the minstrel in mine ear
And the tender legend that trembles here,
I'd give the best on his bended knee,
The whitest soul of my chivalry,
For little Giffen, of Tennessee!

—Francis O. Ticknor.

When the Fire Went Out Fifty Years Ago.

Back in the forties well to do people never had such a thing as a match in the house. During the winter a perpetual fire was kept in the fire place. At bed time a good sized stick of wood partially consumed was buried in the ashes with a bed of glowing coals, and in the morning these were raked open, wood was thrown on and in a few minutes a rousing fire was the result. Sometimes, through carelessness, the fire would go out.

The writer remembers several occasions when as a boy he went to a neighbor's, a third or a half mile away, with a big fire shovel in which he brought back live coals with which to start a fire. This was no desirable jaunt to make on a cold morning with the wind blowing savagely.—Philadelphia Press.

Arkwright's Love Experience.

Some inventors have been far from happy in their lives. Arkwright had but a sorry time of it with that spirited "Lancashire lass," his second wife, who smashed the model of his spinning frame one day in a fit of temper, because she deemed it (and perhaps not altogether unjustly) responsible for their poverty. What she thought of it all when, after separating from him, he accumulated a large fortune and allowed her £30 a year out of it, the annals of cotton spinning do not inform us. We are told, however, that she never spoke ill of him, and would not permit any one else to do so in her hearing.—Castien's Magazine.

Food Per Diem for One Man.

Professor Huxley's food table tells how many grains per day each average man of 154 pound weight should consume of solid food. Of lean beefsteak he should have 5,000 grains; bread, 6,000 grains; milk, 7,000 grains; potatoes, 3,000 grains; butter, 600 grains, and water, 22,000 grains.

A man of the weight mentioned above will have 38 pounds of muscles and their appurtenances; his bones will weigh 24 pounds; skin, 10½ pounds; fat, 28 pounds; brain, 3 pounds; thoracic viscera, 3½ pounds; abdominal viscera, 11 pounds; blood, 7 pounds.—St. Louis Republic.

Keeping Warm in Russia.

A good story is told of Lord Randolph Churchill's visit to Russia.

"What," asked a friend of Lord Randolph, on his return, "did you really go to Russia for?"

"To get warm," was the characteristic reply. Lord Randolph went on to explain his paradox by saying that the winter was abominably cold everywhere, but that as it was colder in Russia than elsewhere, the Russians alone took proper precautions against it. "Only in St. Petersburg," he said, "do they understand the art of warming a house."—London Tit-Bits.

Kenilworth Ivy.

The Kenilworth ivy is very well known as a basket plant for house decoration. Very few understand that it is perfectly hardy in this climate, and that it will serve to ornament old walls just as well as it ornaments the walls of the celebrated Kenilworth abbey, from which it takes it name. We have recently seen some on an old wall along a roadside, which has evidently been on the wall for a number of years. It was quite as beautiful as anything seen in the Old World.—Meehan's Monthly.

Gloves Are Not Made of Ratskins.

It has often been said that the glovemakers of Paris make use in their trade of the skins of rats which are caught in the sewers, but this has been denied. Certainly the material would not be strong enough to successfully counterfeit the kid unless it were for the thumb part only, which is generally of a thinner and different kind of leather from the rest.—Washington Star.

The First Striking Clock.

The first striking clock was imported into Europe by the Persians about the year A. D. 800. It was brought as a present to Charlemagne from Abdella, king of Persia, by two monks of Jerusalem.—Notes and Queries

Going to California in 1849.

The ship Oxford arrived in San Francisco from Boston with sixty four skilled mechanics, who during the voyage of 196 days had manufactured all their tents, cots and hammocks, had built a boat, had made daggers of old files and inlaid the handles with gold, and having landed on some islands and found some pearl oyster shells had covered the handles of their knives with pearl in place of buckhorn. They had constructed a blacksmith's shop on board, and if a man broke his penknife there was another man who could mend it. The captain complained that they used up every kind of material they could lay hands on, and that it was with difficulty he kept them from cutting up his ship.

Even the boys were noted for their wits. A Salem lad eighteen years of age printed on canvas in San Francisco the words "American House" and "Broadway House," and sold them as signs for twenty-two dollars. Another day he earned seventeen dollars and another fifteen for doing similar trifles. He and a companion picked up the boxes that had been cast aside as useless in the city after the goods had been sold from them and got four or five dollars apiece.—George W. Sheldon in Harper's.

The Dog Went Wrong.

M. F. Mimnaugh, the popular Patton avenue merchant, owns a very smart dog.

When Mr. Mimnaugh is short of apples or other fruits he orders the dog, Frank, a fine setter, to go to a neighbor's store and bring him what he wants, and he does.

He was bragging upon the intelligence of Frank a few days ago to a lady friend who is a very strong Prohibitionist, and said he could give Frank a note to Hill & Shank's meat market and the dog would go and get his dinner.

The good lady doubted this, and Mr. Mimnaugh wrote the note and told him where to go and for what.

The dog took the note, listening attentively to instructions, and to the disgust of Mr. Mimnaugh trotted directly to Frank O'Donnell's barroom.

The good lady thinks even the dogs are being corrupted.—Asheville Democrat.

Queer Tricks of Defective Sight.

Almost any nearsighted man could write an interesting chapter on the queer tricks which his eyes have played upon him. Such a chapter would include experiences like this: The other day a gentleman who is not so very shortsighted was astonished to see a man going along Washington street accompanied by a red calf, which was gamboling by his side. It would be impossible to describe the comical appearance to the beholder of this prancing calf on the sidewalk of Washington street. The gentleman looked on in wonder as the man and the calf drew nearer, and then he saw that the animal was merely a setter dog. Only an instant before he would have sworn that he saw the beast as plainly as he did now; but then it was a calf, and now it had undergone a sudden transformation into an Irish setter.—Boston Transcript.

The Crystal Palace.

At one period during the building of the Crystal Palace some 7,000 workmen were engaged in its erection, and some idea of its vastness may be obtained from the fact that 9,642 tons of iron were used in the framework, besides 175 tons of bolts and rivets and 103 tons of nails. Were it possible to place the panes of glass employed end to end they would be found to extend 242 miles. For heating purposes alone there are fifty miles of piping under the floor and ten miles more of pipes carrying the water supply to the fountains. When the complete fountain system is in full go, as many as 11,783 jets are playing and throwing 120,000 gallons into the air every minute. One great display consumes 6,000,000 gallons of water.—London Tit-Bits.

Copper Came from Cyprus.

The word copper is generally admitted to be derived from Cyprus, as it was from that island that the ancient Romans first procured their supplies. In those remote days Cyprus and Rhodes were the great copper districts; and even in our own day new discoveries of copper ore, especially the beautiful blue and green ores—from which the metal is so much more easily obtained than from the copper pyrites and other sulphuretted ores of Cornwall—are being made nearly every year in the islands of the Mediterranean.—Chambers' Journal.

Shortsightedness.

It is a disgrace to our educational institutions that half of our students bring away from them myopic—shortsighted—eyes, and that, even in our grammar schools, children who have hardly reached their teens become life long slaves to spectacles, formerly regarded as the almost exclusive badge and burden of old age. And it must be remembered that shortsightedness is not a mere inconvenience, but a disorder that tends to final ultimate visual disorganization.—Youth's Companion.

A Brave Effort.

Aunty—Why did you laugh when you told me your dear little dog was dead?

Little Dick (choking)—So's to keep from cryin'.—Good News.

THE NEW BALLOT.

We are in receipt of samples of the municipal tickets of Santa Rosa and Los Angeles, printed in accordance with the new ballot law. By comparing the two tickets we find that they are not exactly alike. The one from Santa Rosa may be strictly according to the New Ballot Law, but we must say that our preference is for the Los Angeles ticket. The Santa Rosa ticket contains the names of all the candidates (Republicans and Democrats) mixed together and arranged in alphabetical order as to surname, while the Los Angeles ticket has the names of Republican candidates separate from those of the Democrats. This seems to us the better way, as it must naturally prevent many mistakes. This little matter must have escaped the attention of Judge McGuire, the father of the New Ballot Law and if experience at the Municipal elections to be held throughout the State should prove that we are correct, the next Legislature may easily correct this by the proper amendment. We make this suggestion as a friend of the New Ballot Law, for what we have seen and heard of it, we consider it a vast improvement over the old system.

J. K. LUTTRELL of Glen Ellen is still in Washington doing good service for the mining industry of California. If our hydraulic mines are allowed to start up again all the varied interests of the State will be benefitted. This is the opinion of the people of Sonoma Valley, which is in every sense an agricultural part of California.

Every section of the State has suffered by the closing down of the hydraulic mines. As an experiment the stoppage of hydraulic mining has proved a serious blow to the industries of the State. Now that the shutting down of those mines are detrimental to California we can see no reason why Congress should not come to our aid.

About Lemons.

Do you want to know the name of one of the best all around household doctors and certainly the cheapest that can be found in any country?

It is doctor Lemon. Yes an ordinary, sour, yellow lemon, which you can buy at any grocery for a few cents.

Here are some of the things Dr. Lemon will do for you if you give him a chance:

Squeeze him into a glass of water every morning and drink him with very little sugar.

He will keep your stomach in the best of order and never let Mr. Dyspepsia, whom he hates cordially, get into it.

If you have dark hair and it seems to be falling out cut off a slice of the doctor and rub him on your scalp. He will stop that little trouble promptly.

Squeeze him into a quart of milk and he will give you a mixture to rub on your face night and morning and get a complexion like a princess.

Pour him into an equal quantity of glycerine and rub your hands with the mixture before going to bed. If you don't mind sleeping with gloves on that is better still and helps the doctor considerably in his task of whitening your hands. In the morning wash your hands thoroughly in warm water and apply the doctor again pure, but only a few drops of him this time. You must not keep this up too long or your hands will show such a dazzling whiteness as to make all the other young ladies in the vicinity jealous.

If you have a bad headache cut Dr. Lemon into slices and rub these along your temples. Your pain will not be long disappearing—or at least growing easier to bear.

If a bee or an insect stings you clap a few drops of the doctor on to the spot and you will find yourself the better for it.

A Much-Married Woman.

Mrs. Fowler, of this city, was married last January to her sixth husband, and strange as it may seem, five of them died exactly two years from their marriage day. Her present husband has been sick for the last four months with chronic jaundice, and was given up by four of our best physicians; as a last resort he began using Sulphur Bitters, and yesterday told our reporter that they had saved his life, smilingly saying that he guessed Mr. Fowler would be unable to take a seventh better half for some time to come.—Exchange.

It is not the extremes of heat and cold so much as the sudden changes of temperature that cause certain climates to be unhealthful. When, however, the system is invigorated with Ayer's Sarsaparilla, these changes are rarely attended with injurious results.

The postage-stamp will be fifty-two years old May 6th. Its inventor was a printer, James Chalmers of Dundee. Its introduction into the United States dates from 1841.

One of our most valued exchanges gives the following bit of advice: It is said that sulphur sprinkled in one's stockings is a preventive of disease, particularly of fevers. During the ravages of yellow fever in Memphis, a few years ago, it is said those who put sulphur in their stockings escaped the fever. It will do no hurt to try it, and may do much good."

Taken for a Crank.

A semi-Swedish delight often seems to possess people of strong nerves in sneering at those with weak ones. The irritability of the nervous hypochondriac is ridiculed as natural ill temper. The very genuine and distressing symptoms from which he suffers are made light of. "He" or "she is a crank!" is the cheerful sort of sympathy with which the nervous invalid meets from the unfeeling and the thoughtless. At the same time no complaint is more defined and real, none has a more easily explainable origin when it is chronic. Imperfect digestion and assimilation are always accompanied by nervous ability and anxiety. Build up the powers of assimilation and digestion with Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, and nervous symptoms, sick headaches and a generally feeble condition of the system are remedied. Remember that fearful ravages are produced by the la grippe among weakly, nervous people. Hostetter's Stomach Bitters cures it, and prevents malaria, rheumatism and kidney complaint.

THE FACT

That AYER'S Sarsaparilla CURES OTHERS of Scrofulous Diseases, Eruptions, Boils, Eczema, Liver and Kidney Diseases, Dyspepsia, Rheumatism, and Catarrh should be convincing that the same course of treatment WILL CURE YOU. All that has been said of the wonderful cures effected by the use of

AYER'S Sarsaparilla

during the past 50 years, truthfully applies to-day. It is, in every sense, The Superior Medicine. Its curative properties, strength, effect, and flavor are always the same; and for whatever blood diseases AYER'S Sarsaparilla is taken, they yield to this treatment. When you ask for

don't be induced to purchase any of the worthless substitutes, which are mostly mixtures of the cheapest ingredients, contain no sarsaparilla, have no uniform standard of appearance, flavor, or effect, are blood-purifiers in name only, and are offered to you because there is more profit in selling them. Scrofula

Is more especially than any other a hereditary disease, and for this simple reason: Arising from impure and insufficient blood, the disease locates itself in the lymphatics, which are composed of white tissues; there is a period of fœtal life when the whole body consists of white tissues, and therefore the unborn child is especially susceptible to this dreadful disease. But there is a potent remedy for scrofula, whether hereditary or acquired. It is Hood's Sarsaparilla, which expels every trace of the disease and gives to the blood the quality and color of health. MRS. GRAHAM'S

CUCUMBER and ELDER FLOWER CREAM.

Is not a cosmetic in the sense in which that term is popularly used, but permanently beautifies. It creates a soft, smooth, clear, velvety skin, and by daily use gradually makes the complexion several shades whiter. It is a constant protection from the effects of sun and wind, and prevents sun burns and freckles, and blackheads will not come while you use it. It cleanses the face far better than soap and water, nourishes and builds up the skin tissues and thus prevents the formation of wrinkles. It gives the freshness, clearness and smoothness of the skin that you had when a little girl. Every lady, young or old ought to use it, as it gives a more youthful appearance to any lady, and that permanently. It contains no acid, powder or alkali and is as harmless as dew and as nourishing to the skin as dew is to the flower. Price $1.00, at all druggists and hair-dressers, or at Mrs. Gervaise Graham's establishment, 104 Post Street San Francisco, where she treates ladies for all blemishes of the face and figure. Ladies at a distance treated by letter. Send stamp to her little book "How to be Beautiful."

George Alleman, for the past eight years a resident of this valley, died at the home of Chas. S Wilson near Glen Ellen on the 17th inst. at the ripe old age of 70 years. Deceased leaves a wife and a grown son and daughter and a large circle of friends to mourn his loss. The funeral took place Sunday, the remains being interred in Mountain cemetery.

Voters who desire to vote at the coming fall elections should see that their names are on the New Great Register, as the old register has been canceled. Call at once at his office in the Union Hotel.

"If you have ten dollars to spend," said Barnum, "spend one for the article and the other nine in advertising it." The old man knew a thing or two when it came to advertising. Barnum said to me some years ago: "I can out-talk anybody on earth but the printer. The man who can stick type and talk next morning to thousands of people while I'm talking to one is the only man I'm afraid of. I want him for my friend."

Judge Brown of Santa Rosa has no love for wife beaters, and that is why he is a great favorite with the ladies, and with all decent men for that matter. Duncan, the wife beater, appeared before his Honor, last Wednesday, for examination. The Judge, after hearing the testimony, held the brute to appear for trial in the Superior Court and fixed his bond at $500. No one was willing to go on Duncan's bond and he went to jail, and is now the guest of Jailor McMahon.

NOT TO BE SOLD.

The S. F. and N. P. Railway to Remain in Present Hands for Some Time Yet to Come.

There has been considerable talk in this valley of late about the San Francisco and North Pacific Railway being sold to pay off the claims against the estate. It would appear from the following, taken from the Santa Rosa Democrat, that this railroad which has always been a friend to Sonoma Valley, will not pass out of the hands of the present management for some time yet to come: "After all the talk of a forced sale of the San Francisco and North Pacific road by the executors of the Donahue estate it seems more than probable that the line will be operated for some time to come under the present management. Officials of this road are going on with certain improvements that would hardly be consistent with the idea of an immediate sale. The fact of the matter is those on the inside are not expecting a bid high enough to take the property, and the executors firmly believe that they will be able to hold it against the wishes of a few small claimants. The heavy legatees are not pressing the sale and prefer to see the road operated as at present. It is said that those having minor claims against the estate can be satisfied in a short time by reason of the rapid increasing revenue, and when this is done there will be no good reason for a sale.

Of course the road would go at once if a bid was made according to the executors' idea of its true value, but this is not looked for.

Why Money is Scarce in Sonoma—One of the Causes.

"Times are dull and money is scarce," is the cry of late in this town. We don't wonder. If our town's people would stand in with each other in all their business dealings there would be less complaint of scarcity of money. But they won't do it as a general rule. Take for instance the INDEX-TRIBUNE, and when we talk about ourselves we know what we are talking about. The proprietor spends every cent he makes in the town. The butcher, baker, groceryman, dry goods dealer, tinner, hotel man, painters, carpenters, brickmasons, etc., have all come in for their share of his earnings. A few of these, however, if they desire a small job done, such as bill heads, letter heads, statements, etc., send elsewhere for their work. Only a week or two ago a ball committee sent to San Francisco for dance programmes when the work could have been done as good and on as reasonable terms at home. This is a fair sample of the Sonoma style, not only as regards the treatment of our only newspaper but other enterprises as well. Is it any wonder when money is sent out of town as in the above case, and this is only one instance in hundreds, that its people are complaining of hard times? For our part we can stand it if the other fellows can, for nine-tenths of the income of this paper comes from outsiders. Still we work for the interest of Sonoma.

Until the town people stand with each other in business dealings they have no right to expect outsiders—farmers, stockraisers and others in this valley—to stand in with them. See.

Attachment Released.

The civil suit [illegible] before Justice Cheney by R. Vanucci and F. Matteucci, merchants of San Francisco against L and R. Quartaroli of this place was decided last Wednesday. The suit was brought to recover $247.13 for goods sold and delivered to L. Quartaroli. Some months ago R. Quartaroli, one of the defendants in the suit, opened a saloon in this place. The plaintiffs were led to believe that R. Quartaroli owned an interest in the same and an attachment was placed on the stock and fixtures. It was proven that he had no interest in the business and Judge Cheney very properly dismissed the case as to R. Quartaroli. Judgment, however, was given plaintiffs against L Quartaroli for the amount sued for and costs. The attorneys for the Quarroli's were J. P. Rodgers of Petaluma and M.B. Harrison of this place. A. D. Splivalo and Wm. H. Mott of San Francisco appeared for plaintiffs. The attachment on the saloon was released yesterday.

Orchards Taking the Place of Vineyards.

Gradually but surely grape vines are giving way to fruit trees in Sonoma Valley, and in a few years more many of our large vineyards will be a thing of the past unless the price of wine improves. T. S. Glaister, owner of the celebrated Green Oaks vineyard, has rooted up this season a large number of wine grape vines and planted in their stead six hundred French prune trees. During the past two or three years hundreds of acres of vines have been grubbed out in this valley and once flourishing and profitable vineyards have been converted into prune, olive, pear, apple and peach orchards.

Jailor McMahon has 23 prisoners in his charge at the County Jail.

A Savage Bear At Large.

On Saturday last a large pet bear belonging to Dr. C. C. O'Donnell of Glen Ellen, made his escape from the Dr's ranch and is now roaming the hills in the vicinity of Kohler & Frohling's vineyard. The brute a few hours after gaining his freedom attacked and badly matilated a horse, after which he was seen going in the direction of Graham canyon. The people of Glen Ellen, particularly the women and children are in mortal fear of meeting brum, whose disposition is described as being quite savage. Several parties of hunters have been organized to run down and kill the brute, but so far his bearship has eluded his pursuers. Dr. O'Donnell has offered a reward for the capture of the bear dead or alive.

Petty Thievery.

There is a great deal of complaint in this town of late of petty thievery. Halters and buggy robes are stolen out of vehicles after nightfall, hen roosts and wood piles have been raided and all sorts of odds and ends purloined from back yards. This thing is getting to be quite monotonous to our people and there is talk of ferreting out the thief and punishing him.

A Paying Railway Property.

The directors of the San Francisco and North Pacific railway consider the following figures a splendid showing of the road's prosperity for the past calendar year and a compliment to the management of the property by President Burgin: The gross earnings were $864,382.06, with operating expenses of $509,448.32. The total income amounted to $354,933 74, which after paying $206,882.50 interest on the funded debt and $27,110.31 in taxes left a net income of $120,940 93. The surplus for the year after redeeming $25,000 of the Seligman bonds was $95,940. 93. The surplus for the preceding year was but $18,730.62. Up to the end of last December $76,000 of the Seligman bonds have been redeemed, leaving the bonded debt at $4,124,000.

The First Baby.

Papers of the State have again been discussing the question where the first American baby was born in California, it appears that there were several! Sonoma is a claimant in this connection, and its right to the distinction is thus set forth in the St. Helena Star: "In 1845 'Uncle' Billy Hudson, in company with others, crossed the plains from Missouri and located at Calistoga; afterward he went to Rincon valley, Sonoma county, to live. In the town of Sonoma a baby girl was born to Mr. and Mrs. Hudson on the 11th of July, 1846, or the day after the American flag was first raised in Sonoma. Mr. Hudson then moved to St. Helena, where he died. The above particulars were received from 'Uncle' Jack York, and are absolutely correct, as he, being one of the raisers of the flag, remembers the birth of the little girl the day after.

Origin of the Tomato.

The English word of direct Indian origin most frequently in use is tomato. A native of tropical or subtropical America, it was cultivated by the subjects of the Incas and Montezumas, as well as by the other semicivilized natives, long before the advent of Europeans on this hemisphere, under the name of tumatl or tomatl. Though introduced into Europe almost as early as its congener, the potato, it is only lately that it has made its way into popular favor. There it was first known to the English as love apple, to the French as pomme d'amour and to the Italians as pomi d'amore, and these names are still in use, perpetuating the old, widespread notion that its use as food had an influence on the amatory passions.—Rural New Yorker.

Didn't Understand.

In the days of the old schoolship Massachusetts a Sunday visitor once addressed the sailor boys on board in what he probably thought was an effective manner. The next day in the school the question was asked, "What did you learn from the remarks of Mr. X. yesterday?" To the surprise of the teacher one boy gave this answer, "I learned that he was talking about two things that he did not seem to understand, sir—navigation and religion, sir."—Boston Advertiser.

HERALDRY OF THE RAILS.

Trademarks of Some of the Well Known Railroads in This Country.

Almost every railroad company has a device or motto which is printed on the time table folders, the letter heads and the illuminated cards that hang on walls of station, waiting room and business office. These devices are usually printed in colors, and some of them are quaint and clever. One of the most familiar is the autumn tinted maple leaf, the main arteries of which designate the route of the Chicago, St. Paul and Kansas City railway, which is popularly known as the "Maple Leaf." A three leaf clover is the distinguishing mark of the Toledo, St. Louis and Kansas City road, which is commonly called the "Clover Route."

The Houston and Texas Central railway has about as elaborate a design as any. Its main feature is a steel colored horseshoe bearing the name of the road. Encircled by the shoe is a green four leaf clover resting on a background of red, and connecting the heels of the shoe is a rabbit's foot labeled "Lucky Route." To the right just above the horseshoe appears a lone star. The four leaf clover is also the device of the Rome, Watertown and Ogdensburg road, each leaf bearing a letter, as "R. W. & O." The long stem of the clover cuts lengthwise through the French word "Bonheur," conveying assurance of good luck.

Jay Gould's Missouri Pacific road has a large red seal, crossed by a railroad track, with the name of the road in black letters covering the entire face of the seal. The heraldic stamp of the Wabash road is a red flag with a black center, in which appears the forward end of a locomotive, the headlight flashing the word "Wabash." The Lehigh Valley flies a red pennant with a diamond shaped center of black, upon which are the letters "L. V." in white.

One of the simplest of these advertising devices is that of the Pennsylvania railroad, which is a small red keystone with the words "Pennsylvania Lines" across its face. The Florida Central and Peninsular railroad prints upon its time tables a red shield, upon which appears the front of a locomotive, the trunk of an elephant dangling from the headlight, encircling which are the words, in red letters, "Florida Trunk Line."

The Georgia Southern and Florida railroad has for its device a shield printed in dark tints. On the lower surface of the shield is a picturesque scenic view showing a railroad train crossing a stream on a long iron bridge. Just above the picture are the words "Suwanee River Route to Florida." The Richmond and Danville Railroad Company contents itself with the oddly designed initials "R. and D." speared by an arrow and printed in bright red. A yellow disk on a black square constitutes the trade mark of the Baltimore and Ohio railroad, the letters "B. O." appearing on the yellow disk on each side of the faintly traced picture of a monument.

A most peculiar device is that which the Chicago, Rock Island and Pacific railroad has clung to for a great many years. It is an oblong open space, with a red disk at the left, labeled "The Great Rock Island Route." Occupying the greater part of the space are the words in big, black letters, "A Man," and crowding close upon the letter "A" is the diminutive figure of a man with a stick over his shoulder and a satchel in his hand. The device of the Erie railway is both simple and familiar. It is a black disk on a tinted square, the face of the disk bearing in white letters the words, "Erie Lines."

An Indian arrowhead, showing the words "Tampico Route," is the distinguishing stamp of the Monterey and Mexican Gulf railway.—New York Times.

The Loyal Highlander.

The Highlanders are loyal to Scottish genius. Sir Walter Scott, while making a tour of the western Highlands, wrote to the innkeeper of Arroquhar, Loch Long, to have rooms prepared for him.

On the appointed day it rained ceaselessly. As Scott drew near the inn, he was met on the hill near the house by the landlord, who, with bared head and backing every yard as Scott advanced, thus addressed him:

"Gude guid us, Sir Walter! This is just awfu'! Sic an a downpour! Was ever the like? I really beg your pardon! I'm sure it's no' fault o' mine. I canna think how it should happen to rain this way, just as you, o' a' men of the warld, should come to see us. It looks amaist personal! I can only say, for my part, I'm just ashamed o' the weather!"—Youth's Companion.

Florida Shad.

The shad of Florida are not the same as those of the Hudson river, or the Connecticut, or the Susquehanna. The same fish come each year to the particular river where they were born, and in their appearance are slightly different.—New York Press.

How Crows Are Regarded in Ireland.

Crows, like ericketrs, come for good or evil luck, but the "curse of the crows" is a malediction to be avoided. If good luck abides in the homestead where they build their rookery they should not be molested.—Irish Times.

He has felt it his duty to make it known to his suffering fellows. Actuated by this motive and a desire to relieve human suffering, I will send free of charge to all who desire it, this receipe in German, French, or English, with full directions for preparing and using.
